SMALL STUDY ROOM POLICY

The Warren County Library Richard D. Gardner Branch has two small study rooms equipped with a computer which will be available for educational use such as: study, online or collaborative school work and testing. Rooms may also be used for online communication such as Skype, online meetings, or webinars.

Warren County Library members in good standing and 18 years and older, may use a study room for a maximum of 4 hours each week (Monday – Saturday). Minors are not allowed to use the study rooms, even when accompanied by an adult. Library members must present their library card to staff when requesting and/or using the study room. Room occupancy is limited to 2 persons. Rooms are available on a first-come basis and can be reserved one week in advance.

Members using the study rooms must adhere to all library policies, including, but not limited to, the Computer and Internet Use Policy and Library Code of Conduct.
